

Aramark Building Community Day 09.17.2015

Aramark Building Community Day is dedicated to enriching and nourishing lives around the world. On this day, thousands of Aramark employees will volunteer as part of our ongoing commitment to build local communities. Together, we will dedicate our expertise and knowledge to inspire families to lead healthier lives and empower youth and adults to achieve lifelong success by helping to prepare them for the workforce.

Aramark and the Salvation Army

On Aramark Building Community Day we will create a hub for community health and wellness at the Salvation Army Center of Hope by:

- Transforming an underutilized outdoor space into a center for wellness education and fitness to benefit more than 300 women and children at the facility.
- Building new community produce gardens to provide fresh, healthy food.

- Leading healthy eating workshops, hosted by Aramark culinary experts to provide information about nutrition, how to create a meal on a budget and more.
- Adding an outdoor classroom for ongoing health and wellness education.
- Creating a new fitness area to encourage healthy physical activity, and enhancing an outdoor stage to help expand dance programs.
- Donating items for outdoor games, plus children's books to distribute to families at the center.
- Throughout the year, we will return to the Center of Hope to continue to provide workshops that will help those at the shelters live independently.
