ICYMI: NYC HEALTHCARE HEROES EXCEEDS GOALS

The program has supported New York City workers on the front lines of the fight against COVID-19. Initially aimed at serving over 100,000 healthcare professionals, the program launched in April, has successfully completed deliveries of more than 400,000 care packages with more than 15 million products.

We recently announced that NYC Healthcare Heroes, the city-wide philanthropic program, has expanded in May to include more than 5,000 EMS and disaster services workers, helping alleviate the burden of having to shop for themselves and their families.

The program was created in partnership with Aramark, the company developing the "Essential Grocery" app, to ensure players have access to fresh food. The app is designed to help NYC's residents purchase groceries and other staple items with a few taps, and allows them to easily order items for delivery to one of the 20 mobile retail locations in Manhattan and Brooklyn. Aramark is providing the back-end operational support to ensure the app works properly, and the city is working to increase the number of locations to reach more New Yorkers.

The app is available for the iPhone and Android devices and New York City residents can sign up for a slot for a mobile Walmart pop-up or the last few days. Elena Santos
